New bleachers installed at rodeo grounds

Construction is underway at the Jaycee Bootheel Rodeo grounds on new permanent grandstands to supplement the bleachers already in use. The new seats are being erected by H & D Construction Co. and will enlarge the rodeo seating capacity to 8,480 grandstand seats. The picture, taken from the new area, shows new seating in the foreground and the arena area with the older grandstands to the rear. Farm bill faces possible veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — While Republicans talked of a veto, the House faced its third round with the farm bill today after crushing the Nixon administration's key compromise and rejecting a subsidy phaseout plan.

A compromise, reached after lengthy talks between administration officials and farm-belt congressmen, collapsed Wednesday when the House refused to remove an escalator clause from the proposed target price system for cotton, wheat and feed grains.

"I have rather good reason to believe if the escalator stays in the bill that it will not become law," Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan told the House, and "I think the President undoubtedly would have to veto the bill." The House promptly voted 240 to 174 in favor of keeping the escalator.

The legislation would set a level of guaranteed income for farmers by pegging a target price of $2.05 a bushel for wheat, $1.38 a bushel for corn and 38 cents a pound for cotton. The escalator clause would annually adjust this target to reflect cost of production and changes in crop yields.

Under this concept, as long as there is a continuation of current relationships between crop production costs and farm prices, the crop subsidies running some $3.5 billion a year would be eliminated. If prices drop because of high production or a loss of export markets, growers would get subsidy payments making up the difference between their sales returns and the target price set by the legislation.

Farm-belt congressmen defended the escalator, calling it vital if agriculture is to survive. Ford claimed the programs with the escalator in them could run a total $12 billion during the four-year period covered by the bill.

In another major move, the House voted 220 to 184 against an amendment by Rep. Robert H. Michel, R-Ill., that would have kept the target price for one year and then would have switched to the President's original proposal for phasing out farm subsidy payments over three years.

The Senate has passed a similar farm bill containing the target price concept and escalator, with figures set far higher than the Nixon administration wants. The Senate bill sets targets of $2.28 for wheat, $1.53 for corn and 43 cents for cotton. Critics of the Senate version say it could set program costs at an annual level of $7 billion or more.

In other major action on the farm bill, the House:

—Voted 241 to 162 to cut out a $10 million-a-year program of cotton marketing and research through Cotton, Inc., a New York based quasi-public organization.

—Refused to cut out of the bill the provisions that would set up a forestry incentives program for private landowners.

—Turned down an attempt to substitute a

Woman hurt in collision

One woman was injured in a two- car accident at 10:23 a.m. today at the intersection of Main Street and Malone Avenue.

Donna Alexander, 18, of Route Four was taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital following the accident. She was still awaiting treatment at noon and the extent of her injuries were unknown, but not believed serious.

According to police a westbound automobile driven by Mary Bonita Bergquis of Rural New Madrid, attempted a left turn from Malone onto South Main. She was struck by the Alexander car which was eastbound.

Police said no arrests have yet been made. Both women said they had the green light and their were no other witnesses.

Man sought for attempted assault here

Police are searching for a man who attempted to assault a Chicago woman at Holiday Inn about 10:35 p.m. Wednesday.

Police said the attempted assault occurred near a soft drink machine in the breezeway. The man was described as white and about 20 years old.

The woman said he tried to assault her and that she hit him, screamed and ran. The woman said her attacker ran, too.

8 accused in July 7 incident plead innocent

Eight pleaded innocent Wednesday night in City Court to charges stemming from the July 7 disturbance at the Park-A-Lot Drive Inn on East Malone Avenue.

Trial date for the eight was set for July 25.

The disturbance broke out after police went to the drive-in to arrest a juvenile girl for curfew violation.

Appearing in court on charges of resisting arrest, peace disturbance and interfering with a police officer were Jack Clemmons, 21, of Morley Box 97; Paula Lewis, 17, of 827 Lake; Ronnie Humphries, 22, of 1713 E. Kathleen; Gary Darnell, 22, of Matthews; Ricky George Kuhn, 21, of Lincoln Park, Mich.; Rhonda Presley, 18, of 121 Broadway; and Lanny Satterfield, 22, of 112 Third Street. Diane Vaughn, 17, of 402 N. Poplar, Dexter, was charged only with peace disturbance.

Satterfield is also charged with escaping custody. He fled from the police station after the group was arrested. He was taken back into custody Tuesday.

Elvis Kaiser, 203 Selma, was fined $360 for driving while intoxicated and sentenced to 60 days in jail. The sentence was suspended on good behavior. He was also fined $60 for peace disturbance. Henry Lewis Swope, of 711 Gail, Charleston, was fined $410 for driving while intoxicated and sentenced to 60 days in jail. The sentence was suspended on good behavior and the condition that he leave Scott County.

A warrant was issued for the arrest of Marvin K. Knupp of Anniston for failing to appear in court on charges of careless and imprudent driving. His $50 bond was revoked.

Charles Crenshaw, 104 Alabama St. pleaded innocent to two counts of assault and battery and trial was set for July 18. Charles L. Freeland, 410 Short St., Trailer 10, pleaded innocent to charges of assault and battery. Trial was set for July 18.

Henry Powell, 229 W. Gladys, pleaded innocent to careless and imprudent driving. Trial was set for July 18. Dick Green, 225 Felker, pleaded not guilty to charges of assault and battery.

Other cases included:

Roy L. Rhyne Jr., Route Two, speeding, $50; Barbara Ann Smith, Halfway Trailer Court, Route four, speeding, $60; Billy D. Boshears, 103 Selma, parking a vehicle within 50 feet of a railroad track, dismissed.

$419,130 okayed for jobs in area

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Department of Labor has announced the release of nearly $12 million in funds to provide summer employment for 27,303 youngsters in Missouri, Kansas, Iowa and Nebraska under the Neighborhood Youth Corps (NYC) program.

The program provides paid jobs for school-age youth from low-income families.

Neal B. Hadsell, assistant director for manpower in the four-state region, said the appropriated funds were released in response to a court order requiring their disbursement.

Missouri is to receive $6.21 million for 13,498 youths; Kansas, $2.16 million for 5,040 young people.

The breakdown by states:

Missouri—Appleton City, $230,800 for 538 youths; Corder, $141,140—329; Flat River, $180,610—421; Hillsboro, $120,120— 280; Joplin, $123,980—289; Kansas City, $1.53 million—3,588; Maryville, $143,290—334; Portageville, $419,130—977; Richland, $122,270—285; St. Joseph, $111,120—259; St. Louis, $1.96 million—4,586; Springfield, $281,420—656; Trenton, $145,000—338; West Plains, $149,290—348; and Winona, $115,830—270.

Taylor youth agent for 2-county area

NEW MADRID — Robert E. Taylor of Sikeston has been employed as area youth agent for the University of Missouri Extension Division and will work in both New Madrid and Mississippi counties.

Bond set for slaying suspect

BENTON — Bond was set at $10,000 and an attorney was appointed Wednesday in Magistrate Court to represent Wren Rendy Jenkins Jr., 34, of Haywood City on charges of shooting and killing Frank Harris, 78, of Haywood City on July 7 at Hamilton's Cafe in Haywood City.

According to testimony by Sheriff John Dennis, the shooting apparently occurred during an argument.

Earlier in the evening Harris allegedly pulled a pistol and threatened Jenkins in front of the cafe. Jenkins then apparently went home and got a shotgun.

Jenkins reportedly was on the dance floor of the cafe when Harris approached him. After an exchange of words between the two, Jenkins allegedly shot Harris in the side.

Sheriff Dennis said there were cuts on Harris's head and that he apparently was hit with the shotgun after he was shot.

He was pronounced dead on arrival at Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston.

On another charge against Jenkins for driving without an operator's license, he was sentenced to 30 days in county jail.

Frankie E. Hutson of Chaffee was bound over to appear in Circuit Court on Aug. 23 after a preliminary hearing on a charge of assaulting John Todt with an ax handle on May 20.

Magistrate Tom Brown of Charleston was appointed as special judge to hear the case after the disqualification of Judge Lloyd Briggs.

After entering a plea of guilty to charges of causing two minor girls to stay away from home overnight, Steve Williams was sentenced to 60 days in the county jail.

Johnny LeRoy Chiles of Oran was sentenced to six months in the county jail and placed on probation under the supervision of Ron Hall, a parole and probation officer for a period of two years. Chiles was charged with driving while his operator license were under suspension and making a false affidavit to obtain a chauffeur's license.

After pleading guilty to charges of making a false report to a police office, Robert T. Harvey of Rockford, Ill., was sentenced to six months in the county jail and fined $100 and costs.

Preliminary hearing was set July 31 for Jerry Lynn Davis on a charge of breaking into Quickie Mart in Illmo on June 27 and stealing lunch meat and bacon.

Charges against Robert Allen Hargrove, Lloyd Rodney Easter, Clarence Callaham of Vanduser, George Slipis and Kenneth Ray Taylor of underage possession of intoxicating liquor on April 27 were continued to July 18.

Dismissed on payment of costs by Janie Messmer of Scott City was a charge of writing a $40.50 bad check to Tee's Prescription Shop on Dec. 27, 1972.

Other court action and fines included:

Earl Miller of Rockview, wounding a dog belonging to Wayne Long, dismissed on payment of costs; Eddie Lloyd Mouser of Delta, speeding, $25; Thomas Wade Brock of Benton, careless and imprudent driving, failed to appear, warrant issued; Arthur Lee Keys of Chaffee, expired chauffeur license, $65; Clyde Anton Eichhorn of Chaffee, no safety helmet on passenger, dismissed on payment of costs.

Jerry Issac Davis of Scott City, no vehicle license, failed to appear, warrant issued; Leona Cathrine Gosche of Oran, no operator license, continued until July 18; Donald Banks of Benton, improper registration and no vehicle license, $10.

Randell Dee Daniel of Benton, improper registration, $10; Frank T. Mayes of Jackson, driving across median, $20; Jack Robert Burton of Sikeston, no operator license, $10; Walter T. Graham of Blodgett, improper registration, continued until July 18.

Charlotte Ann Bishop of Sikeston, no trailer license, dismissed on payment of costs; Robert Lynn Crowder of Sikeston, no operator license, $15; Dorothy Ann Easton of Catron, failure to transfer license plates, dismissed and costs ordered certified to the county; Stephen Clay Hunter of Sikeston, careless and imprudent driving, continued until July 17.

James Earl McCants of Sikeston, speeding, $25; William J. Nicholson of Matthews, defective brakes, $15; Joel Woolin of Benton, improper registration, $15; Raymond Messmer of Illmo, driving while intoxicated, continued until July 25.

Lee Dodd of Sikeston, driving while intoxicated, continued to July 25; Bobby Ray Barrick of Oran, hunting bullfrogs without a valid license, $21, and ordered to obtain license; and Henry Louis Swope of Charleston, no operator license, continued.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

Before he dies, the average man hopes he will find something in life better than he expected it would be.

* * *

We overheard the top executive of a company say, "Competent and dedicated employes are the greatest asset of any company." How true. Think how different history might read if the blacksmiths had all decided to go on strike just as war was declared in the American colonies, or if the operators of the world's first printing presses had thought it was too messy a job and refused to print books.

It doesn't take a great deal of imagination to realize that life today would be totally different had it not been for the dedication and skill of the unknown worker in the background, striving to produce quality products and services. Of even more importance is the fact that the team of workers and management have upgraded our industries to make the "Made in USA" stamp on products a mark of excellence and durability that the rest of the world finds hard to match.

The following item from the Fort Leonard Wood Guidon was reprinted in the Kansas Motor Car Dealers Association bulletin, and it should make most of us think -- as well as drive better.

Here it is:

It isn't the car that begins to whine -- When forced to stop at an old stop sign ... It's the driver.

It isn't the car that will take a drink -- Then quickly lose its power to think ... It's the driver.

It isn't the car that fails to heed -- The dangers of reckless, discourteous speed ... It's the driver.

It isn't the car that steps on the gas -- and causes an accident, trying to pass ... It's the driver.

A car may be bent and twisted awry -- But it isn't the car that will have to die ... It's the driver.

QUEEN OF THE PINUPS

You've got to remember that during World War II, Playboy magazine hadn't been born. But soldiers needed pinup pictures. A man had to know what he was fighting for — in addition to mom and apple pie.

Rita Hayworth got a lot of attention kneeling on a bed in a filmy nightgown. But it was blond Betty Grable in a white bathing suit who was the inspiration of just about every red-blooded American GI from Guadalcanal to Normandy.

To a generation of middle-aged ex-sad sacks it is sobering news to hear of Miss Grable's death at the age of 56.

It's been a long time since they pinned up photos of the movie star in jungle dugouts and painted her on the bombers that hit at Hitler. But most of them will still agree that if she was not more responsible for victory than Eisenhower and MacArthur, she sure kept the Army, Navy and Marines anxious to end the war and come home.

Since the St. Joseph Livestock Journal was about the only newspaper we've seen that reported Don K. Spalding's speech to a St. Joseph group, we are picking up part of the story because Spalding as president of the St. Joseph Stock Yards Co. has a message that needs to be heard now -- not later.

First, Spalding said that a food shortage is as real as the fuel crisis; factors involved include U. S. sales of grain surpluses abroad, the severity of last winter's death losses on the feedlots, farms and ranches, rising feed grain costs and the federal price freeze.

"The fuel shortage sort of sneaked up on us," he said. "We in the business of producing and processing food believe a food shortage will be upon us even more quickly than was the energy crisis.

"We need to know where we are and where we are going. There could be a food shortage situation in six months to a year which will be as real and probably more serious than the fuel shortage."

Mr. Spalding said when he entered the livestock business in the 1930s the U. S. per capita consumption of red meat was 65 pounds a year. Today consumption is almost 200 pounds per person annually.

Another thing, he said, is depletion of a surplus in grains which for ten years had served as a cheap food influence because of the availability of thousands of tons of milo and millions of bushels of feed grains for market if needed.

"Russia was real sharp. They foresaw the shortage before we did and bought up our surplus grains at last year's prices, well below the market today," Mr. Spalding said.

Last winter's livestock kill was a greater disaster than most people realize, he said. Ice, rain, sleet and snow followed by "unbelievable mud" was the result of 14 or more winter storms which swept the livestock producing states from Minnesota to Texas and even into the Southeast.

If you are among those city dudes who think your favorite politician in Washington, D. C. or Topeka or Kansas City can put food on your table by legislation and price controls, then we suggest you had better start listening to the farmers, ranchers and food processors before you awake to a crisis instead of a solution.

WARNS: STOP SPENDING, AVOID TAX HIKE

A plea for the "absolute necessity" of Federal government spending restraint— to avoid a tax increase in fiscal 1974— was made by Dr. Raymond J. Saulnier before Tax Foundation, Inc.'s 24th National Tax Conference.

Dr. Saulnier, former Chairman, Council of Economic Advisers, and Professor of Economics, Barnard College, declared:

"Although foreseeable developments do not justify the conclusion that a tax increase is inevitable in 1974, an increase could be made inevitable by a failure to exercise spending restraint."

Without such restraint, he added, a situation could develop in which "no palatable policy option" would be open to the government, and a tax increase would be indicated. He warned: "It is by no means certain the economy could absorb it without seriously adverse effects."

NO NEED TO GET HOOKED

There is a certain specious appeal to virtually any dramatic sounding proposal for a government- taxpayer solution to a national problem-- whether the problem is imagined or real. Government solutions to problems have been swallowed hook, line and sinker for so long that the nation faces near bankruptcy, and government programs, of one kind or another, reach into nearly every phase of life-- but still the proposals keep coming.

Typical of this approach is the proposal of a prominent economist who says the country is in a crisis caused by a growing shortage of electric power. The solution, he believes, is a federal program similar to that which placed a man on the moon. The idea is to see that the federal government produces adequate power without damage to the environment. He added that the cost of the program should not be added to consumer electric bills. Thus, the moon-type program would be piled onto the backs of the taxpayers even though, as a practical matter, the moon has already been reached so far as electric power is concerned. The investor- owned elctric industry has outstripped the world in the technology of producing electric energy. U.S. citizens have, at their fingertips, more electric power than all of the other leading nations on Earth combined.

As to the question of future supplies, the Edison Electric Institute has reported that electric generating capacity in excess of normal demand is climbing. It reached 19 percent in 1970 and is expected to be near 24 percent by 1974. The findings of the Institute are confirmed by the Federal Power Commission which reports that a major expansion of electric utility generating capacity is planned for the next decade, and that the trend of electric power reserves over the next five years is one of improvement. Certainly, as far as electric power is concerned, no earth- bound, government space program is needed.

A CRITICAL LOOK

Former Health, Education and Welfare Secretary, Senator Abraham Ribicoff has used an interesting analogy to emphasize the waste in the government's numerous poverty programs-- waste that he lays directly at the doorstep of Congress.

He observes that some $31 billion will be spent this year, at all levels of government, on poverty programs. "And yet", he adds, "it is questionable whether any of those programs have removed a single person from poverty. It might be intriguing for senators to contemplate that, if we eliminated all these programs and bureaucracies, and divided that $31 billion among the people who are under the poverty line, every family of four would receive a total of $4,800, almost $1,000 over the poverty line. We would eliminate poverty completely in America...it is incumbent upon us in the Senate to be much more critical of the actual performance of many of the programs we pass." Senator Ribicoff's remarks help to explain why welfare has become an issue of transcendental importance.

LITHUANIA: CAPTIVE NATION

In all the new- found enthusiasm for good relations with the communist governments of Russia and China, the conditions of the captive nations they control have been almost forgotten. In all good conscience, we cannot and must not forget it.

It has been two and a half years since Simas Kudirka, Lithuanian seaman, jumped to what he thought was freedom and safety on a U.S. Coast Guard cutter, only to be returned to his communist slave- masters when the U.S. State Department refused to order him protected.

Dragged back to the Soviet Union, Kudirka was sentenced to 10 years at hard labor for the crime of seeking freedom. He is now serving this grim sentence at Potma Camp, 200 miles southeast of Moscow, where he is fed barely enough to stay alive.

There are almost three million Lithuanians, citizens of a small but proud nation now over 700 years old. Their country was brutally invaded and seized by 140,000 Russian troops in 1940. Soviet administration of the country has been directly responsible, according to reliable estimates, for the deaths of over one million Lithuanians.

The vast majority of Lithuanians are Christians, most of them Roman Catholic. In Lithuania under the communists it is a crime to teach Christinaity to children. Priests have been arrested, brutally beaten, tried and sentenced for doing no more than this. It was Patrick Henry who said: "Is life so dear, and peace so sweet, as to be purchased at the price of chains and slavery? Forbid it, Almighty God!" HLH

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

New Odd Couple:

Rockefeller- Goldwater Alliance

Shaping Up Tighter

NEW YORK-- At a recent intimate reception Gov. Nelson Rockefeller threw here for about a thousand of his close friends, it was Labor Secretary Peter Brennan who almost did himself in with the bon mot of the evening. Just his subconscious coming through.

After virtually nominating Nelson for the presidency in '76, Pete told the assembled loyalists, enthusiasts all:

"I'm glad to return back to the big leagues. When I went to Washington I felt I'd been sold to the minors."

Cheers for the presidential monination, yes. Laughter about the "minors," scattered. In the crowd that June 12 there had been more hard wishing than hard drinking. There were men of power in the crowd. Labor men wondering where they would be going. Wondering if Nelson actually would run for the presidency if he were re-elected governor next year.

But the true believers have no doubt. The governor will e re- elected. And there now are signs of a new coalition inside the Republican party. The talk was, and is now, of an alliance of morality for the big '76 push. An alliance of old--- now reborn. An alliance of Rockefeller and Sen. Barry Goldwater, who himself stands for re- election next year.

These men were political partners of old--- of 1962 and '63 when Goldwater had given every sign he would support the 1964 presidential candidacy of Gov. Rockefeller. There developed a sharp disagreement over a matter I consider unpolitical. They broke. Now, a decade later, the forces are moving closer.

The Trunk and Tusk club of Arizona, somewhat like a statewide Republican committee with the elephant as its symbol, wants Rockefeller to speak this fall in Phoenix and Tucson. Goldwater has written the invitations to Rockefeller. Word from the governor's camp here is that he's eager to go. But the fall in a strategic moment. One mistake and the key '73 municipal elections throughout New York state could go wrong.

But the Trunk and Tusk bid is tempting. It brings closer the Southwest- Northeast axis. It's the sort of thing Lyndon Johnson loved to call the Austin (Tex.)- Boston axis in his vice presidential days.

It brings closer two men who differ on many issues--- but not on political morality (with a slight seasonal adjustment now and then).

It's like the late Sen. Bob Taft. Once he asked me, "Just what has George Meany got against me?" I observed it wasn't the Senator's morality or integrity, "just your policies." I may have been wrong. No one speaks for Meany but Meany. But now, as then, the tie which binds appears to be integral morality rather than the political aspirations.

Thus, if the respected Barry Goldwater seems moving slightly to the left, i.e., Rockefeller, the New York governor is moving over to the right. He has been out of the state six or seven times in recent months.

Soon he'll be heading for New Mexico. About two months ago he flew to Tennessee. In mid- June he whirled over to Akron (Ohio), not known to be one of the governor's favorite watering spots. But the invitation had come from a professional among professionals, Ray Bliss, who became chairman of the Republican National Committee back in 1965. That was after the holocaust.

At lunch not long after Bliss took over, he told me he had told Sen. Thruston Morton, "We'll have to look in an insane asylum for a '68 candidate, anyone who takes our nomination is crazy." But he reorganized the party. He built its big city campaign machinery, its national and ethnic units, its cross- spectrum organizations. And these delivered to Richard Nixon in '68.

One fund- raising banquet speech doesn't a commitment make. But Ray Bliss's crowd liked what it heard from Rockefeller, cheered and applauded him. Some of the pros of the National Committee left enthused over "the Rock's" hugging, black-slapping, "Hiya, fella" political expertise.

Just what Gov. Rockefeller decided while hedgehopping around Europe no one will know for a while. I keep asking. All I get is a bear hug. But he is building his national political machine. A veteran infighter, he knows it would take too many legions to win the presidency without the support of labor political machinery. Or, over its active opposition.

So, though his protege Brennan still is being flogged by Meany, Rockefeller still maintains fraternal relations with labor's powerful curmudgeon. Recently, AFL—CIO secretary- treasurer Lane Kirkland was "elected" to the board of trustees of the Rockefeller Foundation. Young (by labor's standards) Kirkland would not have accepted if it hadn't been cleared through Meany.

Actually, it appears that Rockefeller is the only Republican '76 possibility who can swing the hard hats, keep the Nixon new majority, keep labor neutral at worst and get Meany's active endorsement at best.

That is, if the new Rockefeller- Goldwater coalition controls the '76 nominating convention. There is Vice President Agnew, still popular in GOP ranks and one of the men of morality. The nomination, a long way off, is still up for grabs.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:

Milking the Public

WASHINGTON-- Dairy price supports were increased, as we have previously reported, the day after dairy leaders delivered their first big contribution to President Nixon's 1972 campaign.

In a letter explaining the deal, dairyman William Powell noted: "Whether we like it or not, this is the way the system works."

The system has been working again, if somewhat differently, to benefit the dairy industry. Last month, the Department of Agriculture turned down an offer by the Associated Milk Producers for nonfat milk. Officials claimed that 50 cents a pound was too high.

But because dry milk was needed for various poverty programs, the Agriculture Department decided to buy on the open market rather than through the subsidiary program.

A week later, the department purchased 6.6 million pounds of dry milk at prices ranging from 52 to 56 cents a pound-- two to six cents higher than the offer that was rejected.

FBI WATCH: Although the late J. Edgar Hoover refused to go along with President Nixon's illegal scheme to combat subversives, the FBI was ready to spy on the most obscure protest groups.

Three summers ago, for example, a women's antiwar group, calling themselves the "Concerned American Mothers," arrived at the White House to picket Tricia Nixon's dinner dance for Prince Charles and Princess Ann of England.

The FBI, ever on the alert for subversives and saboteurs, kept them under surveillance. "On the evening of July 17, 1970," solemnly states a confidential FBI memo, "special agents of the FBI, at approximately 8 p.m., observed 34 middle- aged white women in front of the White House carrying signs...

"At 8:30 p.m.," continues the memo, "a group of 17 Indians arrived in front of the White House, apparently to protest that no Indians were invited to the...affair."

They were joined, apparently on the spur of the moment, by "six hippie type individuals" who "proceeded to seat themselves on the sidewalk in front of the White House."

The FBI agents, in other words, spent the long evening watching 34 middle- aged women, 17 Indians and "six hippie type individuals." Elsewhere in Washington, the crime rate was going up.

Footnote: The evening, according to the FBI report, passed without incident.

BLOOD REPORT: Hemo Caribbean, the controversial blood plasma firm, has raised a howl over our report on its operations in Haiti.

We told how the firm, closed down for exploiting undernourished Haitians, is now pulling political strings in Washington so it can return to Haiti and once again extract plasma from the poorest people in the Western hemisphere.

The firm's lawyer, Joseph Sharlitt, denied Hemo Caribbean ever took commercial advantage of the poor Haitian people. Haitian donors were "carefully protected," he claimed. They risked "nothing more than an hour and a half from work" to donate plasma for a four dollar fee.

Sharlitt said we had told "roughly 50 per cent of the truth." Unfortunately for Hemo Caribbean, the other half of the story is even more sordid than our original account.

Two weeks before the blood operation was stopped, a team of six Haitian physicians investigated the firm's two small blood clinics. Their report to Haitian Health Minister Dr. Alex Theard, translated from the French, tells of brutality, serious accidents and even death during the daily blood letting that went on for 18 months.

Accidents "occur often among individuals with empty stomachs or physical disabilities," wrote the doctors. They referred to at least one case "of the registered death at Hemo Caribbean after a plasmapheresis."

Charging that the company frequently took plasma from Haitians who were underfed and underweight, the special medical commission concluded: "It is beyond doubt that the criteria used by Hemo Caribbean were not sufficient to evaluate the state (of health) of the donors."

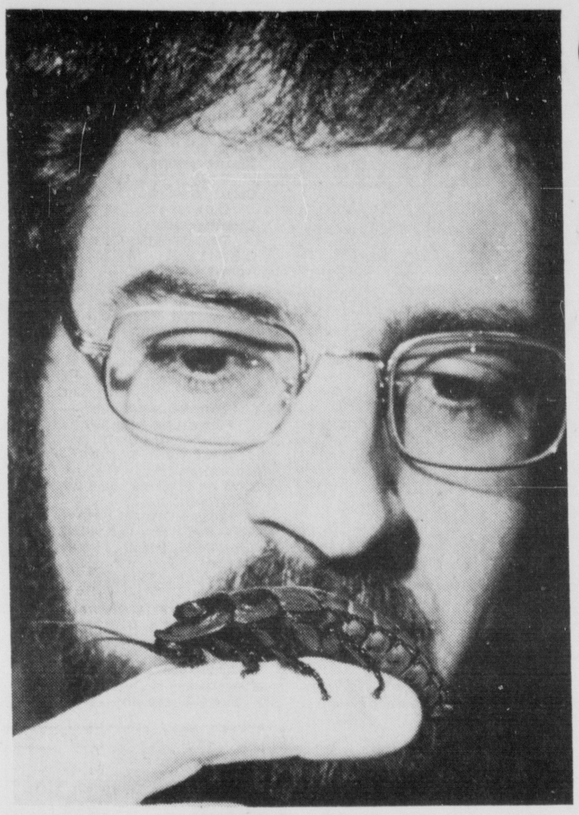

The report described Hemo Caribbean's poor admission standards, lack of medical facilities and simple greed to make money. The operation, states the report, "is a commercial venture that takes twice the medically safe amount of plasma...

"The diet of these donors, the inadequate way they are selected, taken together with the unfavorable conditions in these centers, create a grave situation."

The blood clinics had "no facilities to treat an accident." The doctors found no consultation room, no emergency room, not even an oxygen tank. Instead, an accident victim was taken "to a poorly ventilated room" where apparently it was hoped he would recover on his own.

To keep the donors in line, they were frequently intimidated and sometimes beaten up at the clinics, according to the report. "As early as our first visit," wrote the doctors, "the attention of the Commission's members were drawn to the shocking presence of a guard with a huge club."

Asked about the guard, a director at the blood clinic explained that "discipline was the rule of order." The doctors noted: "Several donors have reported some acts of brutality perpetrated by these guards."

ROACH ENCROACHMENT is being studied in New York by Howard R. Topoff, 30, a research fellow at the American Museum of Natural history. This specimen is a Madagascar cockroach, not the domestic kind you unfortunately may have seen. This wingless kind can even hiss when irked.

Gas shortage not evident

KANSAS CITY (AP) — It was obvious there was a fuel shortage in Missouri. Did we have any hope, then, of driving to Cape May, N.J.?

In traveling about Missouri over the last two months I had encountered service stations that placed a limit on the amount of gasoline it would sell each customer.

I also had become aware of the fact a number of stations were closing early and that a surprising number appeared to have closed permanently.

Regardless, my wife and two daughters packed and we headed east on June 22 in two cars. Edwina, 18, our oldest daughter, was driving her brother Bob's foreign sports car. He had left it at home when he went to Cape May over a year ago.

We vowed that we would not let the family car's gas tank fall below half full before looking for a refill. It wasn't necessary.

We were gone two weeks, drove 2,963 miles, and never once ran into any direct indication of gas shortages. We crossed Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and ranged from Atlantic City to Cape May in the extreme southern section of New Jersey.

Everywhere we stopped there was talk of the gas shortage and stories of this motorist or that motorist being temporarily stranded. Most of the stories concerned late nighttime driving.

We did find that many stations did not open as normal on Sundays and, as in Missouri, many closed a lot earlier at night. Still, there was an ample number of stations open and we found no waiting lines.

Returning home we paused en route to visit friends at Youngstown, Ohio, and got our biggest scare.

The Youngstown Vindicator on Tuesday, July 3, carried an AP story from Kansas City that reported "Motorists couldn't afford to be casual about the gasoline shortage in the Kansas City metropolitan area. Those who were often wound up out of gas Sunday (July 1)."

The news story said that "At one suburban service station, cars lined up for 11 hours for the privilege of buying 10 gallons. When the gasoline supply ran out there were still 50 cars in line."

We left for home with fears of what we might experience in Missouri. Again, as in traveling east, we had no difficulty, and did not run into any limitations on gas purchases.

Prices were surprisingly stable, ranging from 36.9 cents to 38.9 for regular, with one exception. We had to pay 44.9 cents a gallon for regular at one station in east central Missouri.

15 Mo. businesses request exemption

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Only 15 businesses in Missouri have requested exemptions to the 60-day freeze on prices, Raymond Ratliff, acting director of stabilization for the Internal Revenue Service here, said Tuesday.

Ratliff said the reason for the low number of requests so far was either that persons were unaware of the exemption procedure or had decided they could meet freeze requirements. Nationally, 600 exemption requests were received between June 13 and July 5, and officials said only 10 have been granted.

Ratliff also announced that 10 more firms in the state had not been in compliance with the freeze and had agreed to roll back prices.

Those companies were: J & R Foods and Stelmacki's Super Markets, both in St. Louis; Wentzville Lumber Co. in Wentzville; Clyde's Conoco Service Station and Elko Photo Products, both in Kansas City; Consumer Oil Co. and Straton Oil Service, both in Braymer; Holt Seed Co. in Holt; McKinney Bros. Cafe in Jefferson City and Consumer's Food Market in Epringfield.

Eight other firms around the state had agreed to rollback prices last week.

'Silver haired session' planned for October

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A mock legislative session for persons over 55 will be held here Oct. 19-21, says Sen. William J. Cason, D-Clinton, president of the Missouri Senate.

It will be billed as the "Silver Haired Session."

"For years the young people of Missouri have held mock legislative sessions," Cason said today. "The older people haven't had their chance. No one invited them."

He said bills passed by the delegates would be given consideration in the next Missouri legislative session opening in January.

The session for those over 55 was authorized in a resolution passed June 15 on the last day of the 1973 session.

The Missouri Jaycees and Office of Aging in the state Department of Community Affairs have been asked to assist in holding elections for the 197 delegates—34 for the Senate and 163 for the House.

Office seekers' names will be printed in newspapers and anyone over 55 can vote by phone or mail.

John Ketchum, Cason's administrative asistant, said transportation and medicine probably will be the leading topics.

Missouri has more than 1 million persons over 55, according to the Office of Aging.

Ketchum says figures compiled by the American Association of Retired People in Washington show 84 per cent of those over 65 vote while only 37 per cent of those over 35 cast ballots in national elections.

Jackson says U. S. should build oil line

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Henry Jackson says the U. S. government should build the proposed Aalaska oil pipeline itself if delays continue to threaten its completion by private industry.

The Washington Democrat said he is ready to introduce such legislation if the project doesn't get moving soon.

"At a time when independent gas stations are being driven out of business, farm tractors are running out of gas, fuel supplies for vital public services are dwindling, and reliance on imports from unstable sources is growing dangerously, it doesn't make good sense to tolerate continued delay," he said.

Jackson made his comments as the Senate began debate Monday over legislation to grant a group of oil companies the right-of-way for the pipeline from the oil fields of the North Slope, bordering the Arctic Ocean, to the port city of Valdez on Alaska's southern coast.

Sen. Ted Stevens, R-Alaska, also proposed legislation to speed construction of the pipeline. His message would bar any North Slope oil from being shipped by tanker to foreign countries.

The legislation uner consideration would remove the present restriction prohibiting the government from granting rights-of-way wider than 25 feet of land on either side of the pipeline.

The proposed right-of-way exceeds that legal limit in some places, and a U. S. district court has ruled that the government violated the law in granting this easement to the consortium of oil firms building the pipeline.

Fulton school wins nation's top award

FULTON — The nation's top award for publications produced by deaf youngsters now belongs to the Missouri School for the Deaf at Fulton.

The Missouri Record received the distinguished achievement award for excellence in journalism from the Convention of American Instructors of the Deaf at the Convention's annual meeting, recently held in Indianapolis.

The Record competed with approximately 100 other papers produced by youngsters in schools for the deaf across the nation.

Judging for the award is based on all issues produced during a year. "The Missouri Record" is published once each month during the school year by the graphic arts and business and office machines classes at the School for the Deaf. About 70 students worked on the publication during the past year.

The school paper contains articles for parents of deaf children, reports on the school's athletic and extra-curricular activities, and articles contributed by students. The Record is sent to parents, alumni of the school, and exchanged with other schools for the deaf in this country, England, Mexico, Australia and Canada.

Mrs. Lewis is Breath of Life chairman

Mrs. Bill Lewis, 222 Kramer Drive, has been named Sikeston chairman of the Breath of Life campaign to fight children's lung diseases, according to George A. Stephans of St. Louis, president of the Gateway Chapter, National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation.

Mrs. Lewis will lead local volunteers in raising funds to support research and care programs for children affected by lung- damaging diseases like cystic fibrosis, severe asthma, chronic bronchitis, bronchiectasis and a condition called "childhood emphysema."

The campaign will begin in September with a house- to- house appeal scheduled on Sept. 9.

Cystic fibrosis, an incurable genetic disease, is inherited when both parents carry the recessive gene for C/F. It is believed that one in 20 persons or 10 million Americans may carry the C/F gene, usually without knowing it. Current research funded by the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation is seeking a practical test to identify these carriers.

Because of improved therapy and constant research, many C/F patients are living beyond infancy to their teens and into young adulthood. That same kind of thereapy is relieving and often curing children suffering from the other respiratory afflictions whose symptoms resemble those of C/F.

"Most people don't realize that there are six million children in the U.S. affected by pulmonary illness," says Mr. Lewis. "For some of these children, breathing is not the natural function we, who are lucky, take for granted."

The Breath of Life campaign supports not only research, but over 100 C/F Centers for diagnosis and treatment across the country.

Miss Carswell is June bride of Dash Roberts

BUFORD, Ga.--- Miss Debra Ann Carswell became the bride of Dash H. E. Roberts of Sikeston, Mo., in a double- ring ceremony at 4 p.m. June 9 in the home of the bride's parents with the Rev. Gene Davis officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elwin D. Carswell of Buford, and Roberts is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Roberts of Sikeston.

The bridge, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor- length empire- styled gown of ivory sheer chiffon over peau- de- soie. The bodice, caped sleeves and cuffs of the puffed chiffon sleeves were of beaded Chantilly lace. The veil of ivory illusion net fell from under a fingertip- length cathedral veil of lace, matching the bodice and fashioned by her mother. She carried an old- fashioned bouquet of sweetheart pink roses, purple statice and baby's breath with long pink streamers.

Miss Susan Carswell of Carbondale, Ill., sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a floor- length gown of multi- colored print organza over lavender crepe and a large, lavender, picture hat trimmed with matching material. She carried a single, long- stemmed, pink rose.

Miss Cathy Messer of Milan, Tenn., a high school classmate, and Miss Sue Beth Hudson of Dyer, Tenn., a sorority sister, were bridesmaids. Miss Kathy May of Lawrenceville was a junior bridesmaid. All three wore identical dresses matching the one worn by the maid of honor.

Mrs. Bert Benson was the organist and played music from "Love Story", "Romeo and Juliet", and Tara's Theme from "Gone with the Wind", since the home is of a typical early Southern Era. The traditional "Wedding March" was played, and Mrs. Erwin Gleim of Atlanta sang, "Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer".

The fireplace was banked with magnolias, with seven- branch candelabra on each side holding pink tapers. The bride descended the long stairway between hurricane lamps that formed an aisle.

The mother of the bride chose a long dress of blue organza trimmed with rhinestones and wore a cymbidium orchid corsage.

The groom's mother wore a long dress of lavender linen, with hand embroidered flowers on the bodice. She wore a similar corsage.

The groom's grandmother, Mrs. Eula Minner of Sikeston, Mo. wore a two- piece light blue knit dress and a white orchid corsage.

Harvey Roberts, brother of the groom, was best man, and Larry Harshbarger, brother- in law of the groom, was groomsman. Both are from Sikeston. Jim Hurdis, of Carbondale, Ill., was groomsman.

Following the ceremony, the bride and groom gave each mother a long stemmed red rose.

The bride's parents served a buffet dinner at their home following the wedding.

The bride's cake was four tiered, separated by columns and a miniature bride and groom in a gazebo with pink roses and green and lavender trim. The groom's cake was chocolate and made to simulate a broadcasters turntable.

The punch and cake tables were covered with white lace trimmed cloths and a five- branch silver candelabra with lavender candles. Pink mums and purple statics arrangement was in the center.

The buffet table was covered with a floor length ivory satin cloth with a pair of three- branch candelabra with lavender candles on either side of an arrangement of pink roses, purple statice and baby's breath.

Mr. and Mrs. Dash Roberts

Tables were set up around the balcony overlooking the foyer for the guests. Pink net holders with lavender tapers decorated each one.

Miss Kay Drake of Milan, Tenn., Miss Susan Johnson of Troy, Tenn., Miss Sherry Ashe of Union City, Tenn., and Miss Kathy Reeves of Huntsville, all sorority sisters of the bride, served. Mrs. Hugh Muldoon of Carbondale, Ill., Miss Sarah Jones of Atlanta and Miss Shelley Wilkinson of Chattanooga, Tenn., also served.

Mrs. Hugh May, Mrs. George Anderson and Mrs. Ray Dean of Lawrenceville and Mrs. Babu Gravini of Buford served the buffet dinner under the direction of J. Walter Richards.

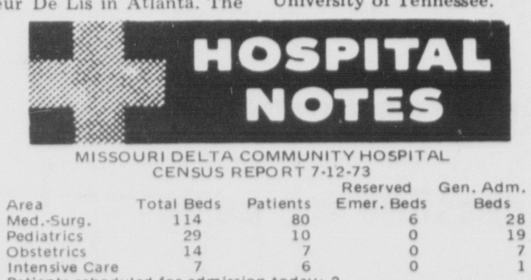

Rehearsal dinner was given in the home of Mrs. George Lowry of Lawrenceville and served by Mrs. Hugh May, Mrs. George Anderson, Mrs. Ruby Leach, Mrs. Linda Johnson and the hostess. A delicious buffet dinner was served.

A bridal luncheon was given by Mrs. Lamar Whiting, assisted by Mrs. W.N. Shadborn Jr., at Chateau Fleur De Lis in Atlanta. The floral arrangement was pink roses, lavender gladioli and baby's breath.

Out- of- town guests were: Dr. Stanley and Dr. Betty Shuttleworth, Mayor and Mayoress of Grahamstown, South Africa; Mr. and Mrs. Wilford McLeod of New Jersey; Mrs. Currie Drake and family, Ervin Messer and family and Art Fraser and family of Milan, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. William Hollenbach Jr. of Charlotte, N.C.; Mr. and Mrs. Larry Harshbarger and Jay and Thad, Mrs. Eva Davis, Mrs. Harold Rogers, Mrs. Eula Minner and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Roberts of Sikeston, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davis and Mrs. Fred Drum of St. Louis, Mo.; Chuck Priddy of Knoxville, Tenn., Jim Mann of Colierville, Tenn., Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gaskin and Mr. and Mrs. Greg Hawkins of Martin, Tenn.

The bride and groom left on a trip of Calloway Gardens at Pine Mountain. The bride wore a white double knit pantsuit trimmed with navy and a white corsage.

They are making their home in Knoxville, Tenn., where both are seniors at University of Tennessee.

The purpose of the temperature-humidity index (THI) is to measure or estimate human discomfort in the summertime from the combined effects of temperature and humidity, The World Almanc says. The THI is calculated by adding wet bulb and dry bulb temperature readings, multiplying the sum by 0.4 and adding 15. A THI of 80 is quite uncomfortable.

Ann Landers

Bostonian doesn't like the way 'casual California kissers' kiss

Dear Ann Landers: What's with all the kissing in California? I moved to Fullerton from New England and I have seen more kissing since I arrived here than I saw in all the 40 years I lived in New England.

I was brought up in Boston, where a kiss means something. Bostonians don't kiss everybody they know. In boston when friends meet they shake hands. If it's a formal affair, they smile and nod. Kissing is reserved for relatives or intimate friends. What about this, Ann? What do you think of the indiscriminate kissing in California? -- Please Don't Kiss Me, Kate

Dear Kissless: You rattled the wrong cage, Dearie. I'm a kisser myself. And so far, I haven't had any complaints. Even in Boston.

Perhaps there is more kissing in Califoriia because people tend to be more casual out there. With your attitude, however, you shouldn't have any trouble. Your emphasis on "propriety," as expressed in this letter, probably comes through loud and clear. I can't imagine casual acquaintances smothering YOU with kisses.

Dear Ann Landers: You have printed several letters from mothers who are fed up with the selfish and inconsiderate demands of their married daughters. These mothers have signed themselves "Had It," "Just Plain Tired," and "Too Much Is Plenty."

Why don't you some letters from married daughters who have "Had It" and are "Just Plain Tired" of their "adhesive-tape" mothers? Surely you receive such letters. If not--- here's the first.

My mother lives two blocks from us. She phones me at least twice a day, usually it's more. I can't tell you how many times I have walked into the house and heard the phone ringing. Her first words are, "Where have you been? I've been trying to reach you for an hour." When I ask what is wrong she says, "Does something have to be WRONG? I just want to know where you are."

My mother has had me paged at club meetings, the theater and once at a ballpark. She frequently calls me when I am visiting friends. My husband is a saint to put up with her bloodhound tactics. He says she's a sick woman and I must be compassionate. I know he is right but I still find it very hard to take.

I'm not asking for advice, Ann. I just wanted you to know that sometimes the shoe is on the other foot, and -- It Pinches

Dear I.P.: Of course your mother is sick. Healthy love allows breathing space. It doesn't track down and suffocate. Your husband sounds like a gem. Listen to him.

Dear Ann Landers: Our daughter is going with a young man who appears to be too good to be true. He is handsome, immaculately groomed, has perfect manners, a charming sense of humor, is thoughtful and kind and has a promising future with a fine firm. Marie told me several months ago that he wants to marry her but she can't make up her mind. (They are both 24.) I told her she'd have to be crazy to pass up such a gem.

Last night Marie came home with a swollen lip. She tried to conceal it but she couldn't make it to her room in time. Then she told me that the "gem" had hit her --- and it wasn't the first time. This is why whe is reluctant to marry him. My question: How serious is this fault? Can he change? --- Cleveland Q

Dear Q It's plenty serious. If he changes it will probably be for the worse. A man who gives a girl a swollen lip during courtship will probably fracture her skull after marriage.

Don't flunk your chemsitry test. Love is more that one set of glands calling to another. If you have trouble making a distinciton you need Ann's booklet, "Love Or Sex And How To Tell The Difference." Send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request and 35c in coin to this newspaper.

WOMEN GET SICKER

VICTORIA, British Columbia (AP) — Dr. Ian Kenning, head of the division of psychiatry at the Eric Martin Institute, says women outnumber men in mental institutions but men outnumber women in jails.

Dr. Kenning says society rules that men must not be sick or weak, so men with emotional problems are less likely to seek psychiatric help and tend instead to get into trouble with the law.

Walker masters SEMO stars

Mitchell Walker pitched and hit the Sikeston Sr. Babe Ruth all-stars to a first round victory in the district tournament at VFW stadium Wednesday night, 8-1.

The talented righthander held his SEMO all-star foes at bay with a five hit performance and backed his effort with two hits.

Sikeston claimed a 1-0 edge in the first inning and then put the game vertually out of reach with a five run uprising in the second, capitalizing upon numerous SEMO errors and some timely hitting.

Jeff Bard of East Prairie suffered the defeat, allowing seven hits, two walks and three earned runs while fanning five. Walker fanned 10 and walked three, while not allowing an earned run.

Tournament play resumes tonight at VFW with Sikeston facing an all-star team from the Charleston - Jackson area.

Luzenski on HR spree

By BRUCE LOWITT Associated Press Sports Writer

For Henry Aaron, time is running out. For Greg Luzinski, there's plenty of it left—but he's playing as though he's trying to beat Hammerin' Hank to Babe Ruth s home run record.

Aaron had a productive night at the plate in Philadelphia Wednesday night with a pair of singles and a double. But he didn't get what he's been going after since last Sunday, namely his 24th homer of the season and 697th of his career which would have moved him within 17 of the Babe's once "unbeatable" record of 714.

The 696 puts Aaron a mere 660 ahead of Luzinski—but for the past two nights, Philadelphia's 22-year-old outfielder has been outshining Atlanta's most famous slugger.

Luzinski hit a homer in defeat Tuesday night. And on Wednesday night, he hit a pair, the second one a towering tworun shot in the seventh inning to catapult the Phillies to a 6-5 victory over the Braves.

In other National League games, Montreal nosed out Cincinnati 4-3, San Francisco downed the Chicago Cubs 7-3, Houston belted the New York Mets 7-1, Pittsburgh crushed San Diego 10-2 and Los Angeles tamed St. Louis 3-1.

Pitcher Steve Renko may have found hhe secret to winning with Montreal: If there's a job to be done, do it yourself.

Last Saturday night he drove in a pair of runs with two of his three hits in a victory over Houston. And on Wednesday night, he got the key hit in a two-run seventh inning that beat the Reds.

Like Luzinski, Ed Goodson had a pair of home runs. His second of the game highlighted San Francisco's five-run seventh inning that sent the Cubs down to defeat.

The Astros parlayed five singles into three second-inning runs and Lee May slugged a two-run homer to trounce the Mets. Bob Watson, Doyg Rader, Tommy Helms, Skip Jutze and Tommie Agee did the second-inning damage against Jerry Koosman and gave Dave Roberts all the runs he needed for his route-going victory.

Right-hander Nelson Briles, taking a cue from Renko, drove in a pair of runs and Willie Stargell hit a record-setting homer for Pirates in their rout of the Padres. And, like Renko, Briles also did the job on the mound, scattering seven San Diego hits. Stargell's homer was his 25th of the season, giving him a share of the major league lead. And it was the 302nd of his career with the Pirates. That broke the club record held by Ralph Kiner.

Don Sutton, 11-5, taking over the league strikeout lead with 130, fanned a dozen Cardinals and got all the backing he needed from Willie Davis, who cracked a two-run homer for the Dodgers, who managed only two other hits all night off Bob Gibson and reliever Diego Segui.

In the American League it was Oakland 9, Cleveland 3; Minnesota 3, Boston 0; Baltimore 7, California 1; Detroit 14, Texas 2; Milwaukee 8, Kansas City 1, and the New York Yankees 2, the Chicago White Sox 1.

Namath missing

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The sighting of the first robin is the harbinger of spring.

The blooming of the cherry blossom is the forerunner of summer.

And the absence of Joe Namath is a signal that the New York Jets' training camp has opened.

For the fourth time in the last five years, Jets Coach Weeb Ewbank has given the quarterback permission to report late to training camp.

This year, Namath has some television commitments to fulfill, necessitating the late start for the 30-year-old quarterback.

Ewbank said he granted Namath's request willingly, considering the quarterback's previous record in pre-season drills.

"In those two-a-day practices, Joe works too hard," said Ewbank. "His arm gets sore and his legs swell up, and when they have to drain his knees, it's a mess."

So Ewbank will use the time to give a thorough look to the four other quarterbacks in the Jets' camp: Al Woodall, who spent last season on the taxi squad; Don Gault, Bill Demory and Jim Foote.

In developments at other NFL training sites, safeties Dick Anderson and Jake Scott ended their threatened holdout from the Miami Dolphins, with Anderson reporting to the Miami camp and Scott reportedly on his way. Rookie defensive end Karl Lorch left camp.

Ermal Allen, 52, a member of the Dallas Cowboys coaching staff since 1962, was reported in fair condition at a California hospital after apparently suffering a heart attack.

Football clinic

Sikeston High School's new head football coach, Terry Smith, has announced the opening of a Football Clinic at the High School beginning Monday, July 16.

The Clinic will run from Monday through Friday for two weeks. Fifth, sixth and seventh graders will attend the clinic from nine to 10 p.m. Eighth and Ninth graders will have their session from 10 to 12. Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors will go at 7 p.m. each evening.

Coaches working with the boys will be Terry Smith, George Hale, Martin Bass and Al Holmes.

Golf tourney

The Malden Country Club will hold a mixed pairs 36- hole golf tournament this weekend, beginning Saturday.

Limbaugh homers

Vanduser rallied in the final inning to move out from a 4- all tie and take a 7-5 win over Cape in SEMO Softball action Wednesday night.

Wayne Limbaugh opened up scoring for Vanduser in the third when he hit his sixth home of the year to bring in two runs. Cape stayed with Vanduser as they picked up one runs. Adding another two runs in the following inning gave Vanduser a bigger advantage. Cape proved they were not yet out of it as they came within one in the fifth and then tied the game at 4-4 in the sixth. Limbaugh once again had the batting power as he doubled and a single by Norman Morgan brought in the final two runs. Cape fell short of a rally, scoring only one. Bill Gilliand picked up the win and Kent Nix suffered the loss in relief.

BROTHERS ARE BEST

NEW YORK (AP) — The best brother riding team at Aqueduct since Ron and Rudy Turcotte performed at the Big A two years ago are the Castaneda brothers. They are from Bogota, Colombia. Twenty-two-year-old Marco Castaneda has been one of the stars of the spring meeting and 16-year-old Kelly has been making the winner's circle regularly.

A third brother, 27-year-old Luis, assists trainer Jim Conway with stable chores and exercises horses in the mornings.

Marco Castaneda first rode in New York in August of 1971. Kelly Castaneda, who was christened Hernando, made his debut at Aqueduct this spring. He rode more than 40 winners the first two months of the season.

Daniels hits 2-HR's

Daniels homered twice for Bank of Sikeston to lead a 21-3 romp over Little Paint and Drywall Wednesday night in the Musial Little League. Collins won the second game 10-4 over Nunnelee.

Daniels was aided in his hitting effort by Perry and Gardner who both slapped doubles. Little's defenses were paralyzed and could not stop Bank of Sikeston. The big inning for Bank of Sikeston came in the second when they scored 10 runs to put them out of reach of Little. Redd, Ferrell and Tope all had doubles for Little and Howard added a triple. Alsup had the win while Redd suffered the loss.

Collins moved out from a 4-4 tie in the fourth to take the lead which led to the win. Nunnelee could not break through for a score after Collins tightened their fielding and had to suffer the loss. Watkins had the win along with hitting a double for Collins. Burnett also had an extra base hit for the winning team which was a double. Jackson helped out Nunnelee with a double and Smith slugged a homer.

SIX LATINS WERE TOPS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Six Latin-born major league baseball players have won batting championships but the late Roberto Clemente topped them all with four National League titles. Clemente is the first Latin to lead NL hitters, having hit .351 in 1961. He was born in Carolina, Puerto Rico.

Cuban Tony Oliva of the Minnesota Twins has won three American League batting crowns.

Security A & B win NL

Security National struggled to a 6- 3 win over Pizza Inn while A&B came away with an 11- 4 victory over Lions in the National League Wednesday night.

Jeff Young kept Security National in the winning columns with a strongly pitched game. Trailing by one run in the third, Security National made their hits count and pulled ahead 4- 3 in the fourth. Pizza Inn failed to score while Security National picked up another two to give them the win. Standridge led the hitting for the winning team with a double. Williams was the star for Pizza Inn despite the loss with a round tripper. Herrick had the loss.

A&B had a solid second inning which helped to lead to the win. Picking up five runs then, A&B widened their edge by three runs while holding Lions to two. The Lions' efforts fell short and the victory went to A&B. Brashears was the winning and Holloway the losing pitcher.

Ryan, Fabick win AL battles

After a 1- 1 tie in the first inning, Ryan opened up to bomb Ziegenhorn 20- 9 while Fabick made rather easy work of First National Wednesday night, 11- 4 in American League play.

Ziegenhorn's bats fell quiet after the first inning while Ryan ran away with the lead. Nine runs scored followed by five and five in the following innings to coast Ryan to the big win. Ziegenhorn brought around six in the final inning but it was not enough to catch up. Sanders, Williams, Wisdom and Streetman were the big hitters for Ryan as they all had doubles. Anderson, for Ziegenhorn, was the leading hitter for them with a double and a homer. Doster pitched the win and Rose suffered the loss.

First National waited until it was too late and their efforts fell short. Their rally in the final inning stopped at four runs which was not enough to come around and capture Fabick. After a slow start, Fabick began hitting and producing runs. They came around for eight runs in the third to start them off. Another three runs were added to give them the win. McDowell and Curtis had doubles and Wirth a triple for Fabick. Self earned the win.

Hamburg rallies

New Hamburg picked up a 5- 3 win over Kelso as a rally in the sixth proved successful Wednesday night in SEMO Softball action.

The score was tied in the sixth when New Hamburg took over.

Robin Burger hit a double off the right field fence followed by a double off the left field fence by Don Kern. Dan Burger singled which brought in the two runs which gave them the win. Don Kern was the star of the night for New Hambrug with two doubles, and four RBI's.

Otto Kern had the win and Ken Russell the loss.

Oran wins

Kirby Hahn had three hits and Terry Mobley had a homer to lead the Oran attack on Jackson in SEMO Softball play Wednesday night. Oran posted 4-1 decision, their 11th in 16 games.

Don Robert was once again the winning pitcher, allowing five hits and striking out 18. Don Brumley suffered the loss for Jackson.

Big Red trade

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals, soon to open camp under new Coach Don Coryell, have traded veteran defensive back Dale Hackbart to the Denver Broncos of the National Football League in exchange for a future draft choice.

The move by the Cardinals, who open pre-season camp next Monday at Normal, Ill., pared their roster to 94 players, including three participants in the July 27 College All-Star game.

Hackbart, an 11-season veteran of four NFL clubs, was acquired by the Cardinals in 1971 along with linebacker Mike McGill from the Minnesota Vikings in exchange for tight end Bob Brown and defensive back Nate Wright.

The 35-year-old former University of Wisconsin quarterback, used at free safety and at cornerback, played in all 14 Cardinals games last season. He boasts 19 career NFL interceptions.

Lobbyists fail to file statements

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — About 56 per cent of the lobbyists in the last session of the Missouri legislature --186 persons --had not filed statements reporting their expenditures by the deadline Tuesday as required by state law.

James F. McHenry, Cole County prosecutor, said he intends to enforce the law and will assign an investigator to check the reports filed beginning next week, a task he expects to take several weeks. The investigator will be charged with determining whether each lobbyist has filed an expense report, but because of a shortage on the staff will not attempt to investigate the accuracy of each report, McHenry said.

The penalty for failing to comply with this law is a misdemeanor, punishable by a $500 fine, a year in jail, or both.

Lobbyists who compiled with the statute reported spending $134,674.92 to influnece legislation. Most of the money was listed as food and entertainment expenses for lawmakers.

The largest expense statement was filed by E. J. "Lucky" Cantrell, a former House appropriations chairman. He reported spending $8,140.50 on behalf of Teamsters Joint Council No. 56 in Kansas City to oppose two right-to-work measures.

Both proposals were killed in House committees.

Richard Southern, a former state senator, reported the next largest expense statement -$7,463.15 for the Missouri Nursing Homes Association.

Dick B. Dale and William H. Stephenson reported spending $7,586.17 for the Missouri Bankers Association and John Britton, who heads Jefferson City's largest lobbying firm, reported spending amost $6,000 for five clients. They are AnheuserBusch, Inc.; Anheuser-Busch Wholesalers: Missouri State Chiropractors Association; Car and Truck Renting and Leasing Association and the Missouri Hearing Aid Dealers Association.

Peter J. Palermo, a member of Britton's firm, reported expenses of $3,409.12 for four associations, but did not break down the expenses.

The lobbyist law has been criticized as weak and ineffective but attempts to tighten the controls were defeated in the 1973 session.

Most reports did not give any detailed breakdown of expenditures and some did not even say what legislation was involved.

Among those not filing reports were:

Brick Storts III for the City of St. Louis, Matt Aboud for Teamsters Council 13 in St. Louis, Stirling Kyd, who lobbies extensively at the Capitol for the University of Missouri, but does not register, and Dr. Hugh Wamble, of the Missouri Baptist Christian Life Commission in Kansas City, who testifies frequently on legislation but does not register as a lobbyist.

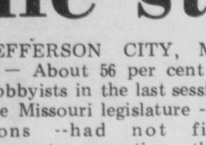

Banks, savings and loan and finance companies spent heavily—a total of $16,661. Among reports were:

Former state Sen. John J. Johnson, $4,250 for Ibur and Associates, a fire adjusting firm, and Associates Investment Co. of South Bend, Ind., which has interests in banks, finance companies and insurance firms; Richard McFadin, $5,644 for the Missouri Independent Bankers Association.

Other groups which reported expenditures:

Missouri Chamber of Commerce, $3,085; Union Electric Co., $1,187; Missouri Soft Drink Association, $2,295; Independent Colleges of Missouri, $3,164; Missouri Retailers Association, $3,509; Missouri Restaurant Association, $2,650; Carl Wilson of the Citizens Lobby, $4,065, and William Abram, $4,494 for the U. S. Brewers Association, with $3,315 of the amount going to stock refrigerators of legislators and news reporters with beer.

Report raises hopes of curbing prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — A report Tuesday by the Agriculture Department predicting farmers will harvest more corn and soybeans this year is raising hopes in the Nixon administration that the rise in food prices can be slowed.

No one says that grocery prices will go down soon, but the prospects of larger crops used to turn out meat, milk and poultry could mean a more gradual rise.

Larger crops also suggest that the United States may be able to let up in a few months on rationing soybeans and other protein feedstuff to foreign buyers.

Export restrictions were put on those products recently by the administration to assure enough for American livestock and poultry producers until new crops come in.

Soaring export demand for wheat, corn and soybeans has helped boost feed costs here at home and has been mentioned as an important factor in retail food price increases.

High feed prices are being blamed for the cutback by farmers on breeding stock for hogs and chickens, meaning that production of pork and poultry will be reduced soon.

Processors and farmers also have blamed the Nixon price freeze for predicted shortages in some food supplies.

Without substantial increases in grain and oilseed production this year, officials believe that American consumers would be headed for serious supermarket shortages by next winter and even sharper cutbacks in export shipments to foreign buyers.

The Agriculture Department says, however, that farmers fought off severe weather last spring and now plan to have 6 per cent more acres of corn and 24 per cent more soybeans for harvest than in 1972.

"This was a day that the optimist came out on top," Don Paarlberg, USDA director of economics, said Tuesday. "If there ever was a need for an abundant crop, this was it."

The report said that record crops of corn and soybeans are likely this year if favorable weather continues. A record wheat crop, 13 per cent larger than 1972, already is being harvested.

Corn production could rise to nearly 5.9 billion bushels, a little less than Nixon planners had hoped but in line with expected needs.

Soybeans, many of them planted on land forsaken by corn growers because of severe spring weather, could exceed goals and total 1.59 billion bushels, a 24 per cent gain.

Officials believe that the figures add up to enough to give cattle, hog, poultry and dairy producers an economic shot in the arm next fall through lower prices for feed.

If that happens, according to plan, farmers will be encouraged to expand animal and poultry production and put more food on consumer tables.

Seven wills come before probate judge

BENTON — Probate of seven wills came before Probate Judge John H. Sides during the week ending July 6.

Frieda E. Tucker, deceased: proof of publication of notice of granting letters, testamentary filed.

Presented to the court proof of publication from the Jimplicute, a weekly newspaper, showing dates of publication as July 7, 14, 21, 28 which is examined and ordered filed.

Addie L. Love, deceased: final settlement approved; finding and decree of distribution.

The court finds that the will of decedent was admitted to probate Dec. 4, 1972, that the estate is in a condition to be closed, that all claims have been paid and that the settlement has been audited and the balance shown of $4,365.45 is correct.

Sinia F. Roberts, deceased: demand filed and allowed.

Pauline Boyd, secretary of Boyd Funeral Home, Inc., claimant herein, presented her claim against the estate in the sum of $1,247.45 for balance due for funeral expenses and that the executor has waived service of notice of presentation for allowance, and the court, after hearing the evidence, ordered that claim be allowed in the sum of $1,247.45 with interest rate of six per cent per annum from July 5 as first class demand against estate.

Sinia F. Roberts: deceased: order for hearing on petition to sell real property.

Louis W. Roberts, executor of estate, presented his petition for an order to sell real property in the county of New Madrid. All of the south of lot 9 in block "U" of Levi's Addition to the city of Malden.

Edwin Pope Coleman Jr., deceased: appointment of appraiser.

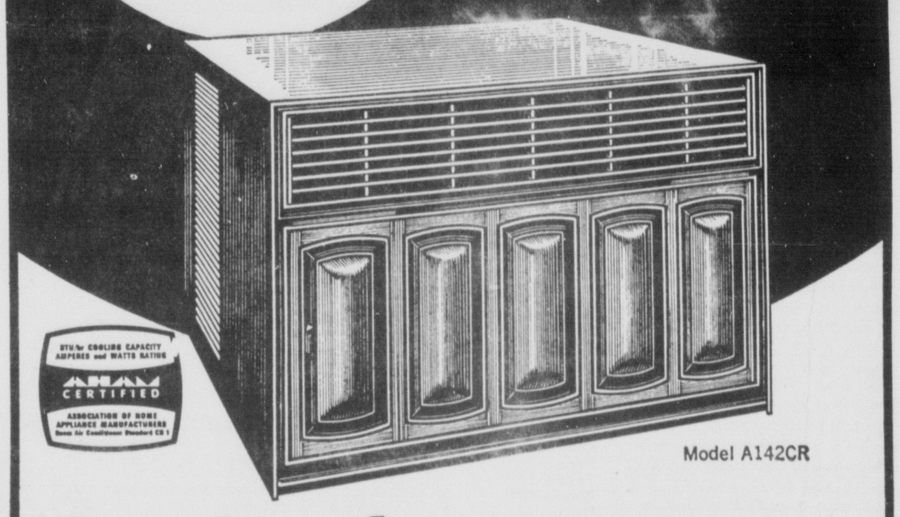

It is ordered by the court that Thomas R. Gilmore be appointed as appraiser to clear the market value of the estate.

Lavada Bernice Beard, minor: final settlement approved; order of distribution.

The court finds that the former ward became 21 years of age, that all allowed claims have been paid and the settlement has been audited and is correct. It was therefore ordered and adjudged that settlement be hereby approved and that the balance shown consisting of $3,555.73 cash be distributed to Lavada Beard.

Frieda E. Tucker, deceased: order to sell real property.

Robert Tucker, Jr. executor of the estate, presented petition to sell all of lot No. 2 in block No. 1 in Roth's Addition to the town of Illmo; Scott City.

1973 bean prices expected to be about same as 1972

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soybean farmers can expect market prices for their 1973 crop to average about the same as last season, according to Agriculture Department economists.

The price prediction, described Wednesday in a report by the Outlook and Situation Board, followed by 24 hours an announcement by the Department that farmers have a much larger soybean acreage for harvest this year.

Based on yield projections, this year's soybean crop could total 1.588 billion bushels. That would be nearly one-fourth larger than production last year.

Even so, the report said, the price outlook for growers continues to be rosy.

"Because of the continuing strong demand for soybeans, prices received by farmers likely will average at least as much as the record $4.25 per bushel now estimated for the 1972-73 season," the report said.

The season price estimate of $4.25 is three cents more than the department estimated a few weeks ago. It also is far below the recent record high cash prices quoted for soybeans, including a peak recently at Chicago of more than $12 per bushel. The USDA two weeks ago reported the average farm price in May was $10 per bushel.

"Most soybean farmers did not benefit from the sharp runup in prices this season because they sold their beans last fall at less than $4 per bushel," the report said.

In fact, according to USDA market experts, about two-thirds of the soybean crop harvested each fall is sold by farmers who produced it before January 1. That means that a minority of producers actually owned their beans during the record price levels of a few weeks ago.

It also helps explain the $4.25 per bushel department officials say was the average season price for the 1972 soybean crop.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Meat imports over-all continue to come in at a larger rate than a year ago, but some countries have cut back shipments to U.S. markets sharply from 1972, according to the Agriculture Department.

During the first five months of this year, imports totaled 503.8 million pounds, up 10.4 per cent from January-May of 1972. Arrivals in May totaled more than 113 million pounds, compared with 107.9 million in the month last year, the department said Wednesday in a report.

In all, 14 countries ship meat of the type covered by a 1964 quota law. The meat includes fresh, frozen and chilled beef, veal, mutton and goat meat, but the big majority is lowgrade beef used for hamburger and other manufactured products.

President Nixon in June 1972 suspended quotas and opened the door to more meat in hopes of boosting U.S. consumer supplies and helping to dampen rising supermarket prices.

Australia, the largest supplier, shipped nearly 231.8 million pounds to the United States during the first five months, up 5.5 per cent from January-May last year.

New Zealand, the second largest provider, sent 102.2 million pounds, a 26.1 per cent increase from the first five months of 1972.

But imports from Canada were down 15.8 per cent from January-May last year; Ireland down 84.3 per cent; Panama down 32 per cent; and Haiti down 4.2 per cent.

Social Security changes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Changes in the Social Security law signed Wednesday by President Nixon include:

Benefits — Increased 5.6 per cent for those receiving cash benefits under Social Security, effective July 1974. The first increased payments will be paid in August 1974. A retired worker drawing $100 a month will now receive $105.60, a couple drawing $200 will receive $211.20.

Tax — Social Security payroll taxes will increase above levels set by former law for those earning $12,000 a year or more and their employers. The increase is effective Jan. 1, 1974. The maximum earnings to which the 5.85 per cent tax applies would have gone to $12,000 Jan. 1 even under former law. The new law raises the maximum base to $12,600. Those earning less than $12,000 are not affected.

But someone earning, for example, $12,200 would pay $11.70 more in tax during 1974. Anyone earning $12,600 or more would pay the maximum increase, $35.10 regardless of how much more than $12,600 he earned.

Retirement benefits — Effective Jan. 1, 1974, the amount a Social Security pensioner may earn without having his benefit reduced is increased. Under the old law, he could earn $2,100 without affecting his benefits, but for every $2 of earnings above that level, the benefits were reduced $1. The new law allows him to earn $2,400 a year before the one-for-two reduction applies.

COPENHAGEN (AP) — The government has said that foreign visitors to Denmark will receive free hospital care if they fall ill while in the country. The service is part of Denmark's socialized public health program.

Stricter controls needed

JEFFERSON CITY — Abuse of barbiturates, commonly known as "downers," continues to be a serious problem throughout Missouri even though these drugs are now regulated under the state Controlled Substances Act, Ernest L. Sjoblom, director of the state Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, said today.

Sjoblom said stricter controls are needed to more effectively limit the availability of barbiturates and help prevent their illicit misuse and abuse. For this reason, he explained, the Missouri Division of Health has endorsed a recent federal proposal to reclassify nine barbiturates from their present category of Schedule III to the stricter Schedule II category of the Controlled Substances Act. This would place barbiturates under the same controls as narcotics and drugs such as cocaine, morphine, codeine, methadone, methamphetamine and the amphetamines.

Medications placed in Schedule II are limited to one time prescriptions with no refills allowed. The quantities of these drugs that may be manufactured each year also are limited and accurate records of sales or use are required.

"The restrictions on prescriptions will cause inconvenience for many people who need barbiturates for legitimate medical purposes," Sjoblom pointed out. "This is an unfortunate aspect of drug control laws but the action is needed in order to control the illicit traffic and protect the misinformed against the dangers of drug misuse and abuse."

He said the effective date for the stricter controls was not known. Following adoption at the federal level, the new controls will become effective 30 days later in Missouri.

2 injured in area accidents

Two persons received minor injuries in separate traffic accidents Wednesday in the Bootheel area, the highway patrol reported today.

Jessie Cruse, 48, of Delta received a cut on the right leg at 9:30 p.m. on Route EE in Scott City when her westbound car was struck by a car driven east by Hattie Overbey, 39, of Delta as the cars met on a bridge.

She was treated at Chaffee General Hospital and released.

Charlotte Macke, 32, of Jackson received bruises and scratches at 7:30 p.m. when her eastbound car was struck in the left front by a westbound car driven by Kimberly Kirn, 16, of Jackson on a gravel road three miles north of Jackson. The patrol said the Kirn auto was on the wrong side of the road.

Mrs. Macke was taken to Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape Girardeau.

8 treated for injuries

Eight accident patients were treated Wednesday in the emergency room of Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

Mike Porter, 19, Sikeston, sprained right ankle at work; Matthew Hampton, 2, Sikeston, cut left leg on piece of tin; Lisa Miller, 7, Sikeston, cut right leg on piece of glass; Jeffrey Hillis, 4, Phoenix, Ariz., cut left arm in jump off camper.

Terry Dunigan, 12, East Prairie, cut left index finger on posthole digger; Don Menken, 29, Sikeston, punctured right hand at work; Priscilla Southern, 38, Sikeston, twisted and injured right knee; and Billy Reynolds, 5, Sikeston, spilled cup of soup on abdomen receiving first degree burns.

Prayer for today

from the Upper Room

Western days ahead

DEXTER — Plans are progressing for the annual Western Days celebration July 23-28 sponsored by Dexter Retail Merchants Association and Dexter Saddle Club.

Highlighting the week will be a parade on July 28 at 3 p.m. The parade will assemble at the hat factory on West Market, proceed down Catalpa to Stoddard Street and down Stoddard through the business district. That night the saddle club will hold its point show at 6:30 p.m. at the arena.

The Dexter Saddle Club will give $100 to the club with the most horses entered.

Scheduled to precede the week's festivities will be the selection of Little Miss and Little Mister Western and Junior Miss Western. This contest, directed by Beta Sigma Phi, will be held Thursday night at 7:30 p.m. at the DHS auditorium.

Deadline for entering the contest is July 12 and persons wanting to enter a contestant can do so by contacting Mrs. Brenda Puricelli at 624-5277. Trophies and savings bonds will be presented the winners. In addition to the three winners, a runnerup in each category will be named.

Contestants will be asked to wear western attire, but it does not have to be an elaborate costume, club members stressed.

Expedition team stops at New Madrid

Members of the Jolliet - Marquette Re-enactment Expedition, en route down the Mississippi River retracing the 3,000- mile canoe voyage along the original route followed 300 years ago by the French explorers, were welcomed to New Madrid Thursday in ceremonies on the river bank. Kneeling, from left, Jeff LeClerc, Bill Dwyer, Ken Lewis and Jim Phillips; standing, Lee Broske; Dean Campbell; Mrs. Leo Hedgepeth, regent, Lucy Jefferson Lewis Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution; Ed LaValle, president of board of aldermen; Reed Lewis, portraying Louis Jolliet; and the Rev. Charles T. McEnery, a Jesuit priest portraying Father Marquette.

In river bank ceremonies

Expedition welcomed

NEW MADRID — Welcoming ceremonies for members of the Jolliet - Marquette Re-enactment Expedition were held Thursday at 5 p.m. on the Mississippi River bank.

The crew of seven men and one boy are traveling by canoes from St. Ignace, Mich., to the mouth of the Arkansas River retracing the original 3,000-mile route covered 300 years ago by the French explorers.

A procession of city officials, members of the Lucy Jefferson Lewis chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution, Junior American Citizens clubs and others greeted the voyagers.

Ed LaValle, president of the board of aldermen, and Mrs. Leo Hedgepeth, DAR regent, welcomed the expedition.

In a brief ceremony directed by the DAR group, JAC club members led the pledge of allegiance to the American flag and singing of "My Country 'Tis of Thee".

Each of the crew members was presented honorary membership pins by JAC club members and Miss Dorothy Conway, DAR chapter chairman.

The crew, in authentic 17th century dress, then entertained with songs, skits and storytelling. The expedition members were guests of the city and DAR Wednesday night for a dinner at New Madrid County Club.

The four- month long trip is to focus attention on the heritage of the Midwest, develop interest in the region's history and to arouse an interest in preserving the natural and manmade vestiges from the past.

The expedition left New Madrid at 7 a.m. today and will be in Caruthersville from 2 to 3 p.m. and at Hales Point, Tenn., tonight.

Recently a member of the Zurich Canton Parliament in Switzerland announced that every minute of debate cost taxpayers $10. The World Almanac notes that the member of parliament delivered a 4½-minute appeal emphasizing this cost and then closed with an apology for having cost Swiss taxpayers $45!

6 officers to attend crime center school

Acting police chief Leon Culp today announced that six officers from the Sikeston Police Department will attend a three- day National Crime Information Center entry school July 17-19 for computer operators at the Cape Girardeau Police Department.

Officers attending will be C. W. Jones, Richard Couch, Joe Sebourn, Brad Wilson, Charles Sherrard and Thurman Burns Jr.

The instructor will be Ed Keeney of Jefferson City. Keeney is associated with the Missouri State Highway Patrol.

Stoddard draft office to move

BLOOMFIELD — Bob Merrick, state director of Selective Service for Missouri, announced Tuesday that effective July 16 the Stoddard County Selective Service Board No. 118 will be located at Benton.

Merrick emphasized that the local board will still be composed of members from Stoddard County, and that they will act in this capacity. Only the office has been moved to Benton.

Mrs. Gladys Nebel, executive secretary of Scott County local board, will assume the added duties as executive secretary of Stoddard County board. The office will be open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The move is part of the consolidation plan under which Selective Service will operate on a standby basis, continuing to register and classify registrants and maintain a pool of young men ready to be examined and inducted in time of national need.

Young men reaching the age of 18 are reminded that they are still required to register for Selective Service within a period of 30 days before their 18th birthday and ending 30 days after.

All of the public high schools in Stoddard County now have a volunteer registrar and persons who are attending the schools and need to register may be registered by the volunteer registrar at the school instead of driving to Benton just for registration.

Bicycle, items from car stolen

Police are looking for two men believed to have stolen several items from a car and a bicycle from the parking lot at Liberty Supermarket, 142 N. Ranney, about 12:10 a.m. today.

Taken from the car owned by Mike Griffith, 112 Ruth, were a checkbook, a box of M-1 shells, a box of .38-caliber shells and a gear shift knob, valued together at $17.

The bicycle belonged to Calvin Ray Chapman, 1030 N. Ranney, and was valued at $71.

Griffith told police he saw one of the men in his car when he stepped out of the store. The men fled and Griffith followed in his car, but lost sight of them a short time later.

Grain Market

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybean and grain futures prices were strong in early dealings on the Chicago Board of Trade today.

On the opening, wheat was 6⅜ to 8¾ cents a bushel higher, July 2.81; corn was 1⅞ to 5 higher, July 2.29; oats were ¼ to ½ higher, Sept. 99; and soybeans were 25 lower to 14 higher, Aug 7.50.

Taking a plane is frowned upon by airport personnel.

Mort Sahl Pipes Up on Watergate

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The Watergate break-in is being investigated and the voice of Mort Sahl is once again heard in the land.

Sahl, now 46, has a new LP out, his 11th, made and processed in 17 days, called "Sing a Song of Watergate," on GNP Crescendo. It isn't the only recording about Watergate — in fact there's a flood of them. But before we list some of the others, we'll chat with Sahl.

Sahl talks fast, skips quickly from one subject to another, smiles engagingly, tells facts, opinions and one-line jokes, shooting, as he says, at both sides. He has thoroughly digested that day's newspapers, which provide him with material for comment.

MORT SAHL

He made the record, he says, "Because I want to have a hand in what goes on in this country, good or bad. I'm not Jack Parr. I don't retire. I want to be as active on as many fronts as possible until I'm dead.

"I lean to the left to correct the drift in my country. If they continue to attack Nixon I'll have to defend him to restore the balance. You want to know my politics? I'm floating in orbit until I'm cleared for landing. I just have to keep attacking people, shoot on both sides.

"I've known Nixon 20 years. One time at a dinner in Los Angeles in 1964 he said, 'You have an epic chance to be Will Rogers. If you remember to keep a fire under our behind as well as theirs, you can make us honest.' I doubt that; it's too late for that; but those were his words. I don't know what happens to Bob Hope in that instance.

"Our job, as comedians, is to take national tragedy in America and make it funny. Example — World War II was not funny. Bill Mauldin drew a cartoon of two officers in Italy looking at the sunset and one said, 'What a beautiful view. Do the enlisted men have one, too?' and made a grim subject funny. I make people laugh at the government's blundering efforts to suppress evidence. People are much more open to the truth when they're laughing."

Sahl says, "Fifteen people were doing Watergate albums but none of them were political comedians. I knew there was plenty to say. One track of my album is Watergate and the rest is stuff I've been doing for the last 10 years. The CIA is in it. It's only the CIA's latest plot. You've got to know what the origins of this are; it's not a government that suddenly went crazy.

"I only made one track about Watergate because I like my albums to have a historical perspective.

"I know a lot of the principals in the case, including the President, if he is involved." Placing his tongue in his cheek, he adds, "I find it hard to believe that he knew. He has a quality of innocence, I've found, over the years.

"I said in Miami this administration would be more corrupt than Harding and not as colorful. At least the British have some women in their scandals.

"The liberals have no sense of humor. My following is never the liberals. They hate me and I hate them. How do you think the country got this way— the indifference of the liberals. It is not that people don't know. They hope the rat-infested ghetto will stay on one side of town and they can stay on the other side. But they know. They don't want to know so they don't have to do anything about it.

"Jack Webb is a close friend of mine in L.A. You shake hands with him or Duke Wayne and you can put it in the bank. Jack said, 'I believe in law and order and Nixon and I don't agree with anything you say but there is room for what you believe in.' I never heard liberals say, 'There is room for you.' I'll take George Wallace any day, not George McGovern.

"But I have a natural affinity with Eugene McCarthy. He introduced me to Catholic humor and Irish humor. I'm sick of Jewish humor."

For the past six years, Sahl hasn't cut an album and hasn't been on TV very much. He cut one album while Lyndon Johnson was President but it wasn't released because Capitol Records feared that Johnson would sue. Sahl disagrees.

A number of TV shows haven't hired Sahl since he started talking a lot about the CIA. "I have the reputation of being an outlaw. But all the shows I worked, I submitted material two weeks ahead to the legal staff. I saw no reason to penalize the people I worked with. We share a common problem — libel.

"A man without his work is really a eunuch. I never understood guys who want to retire and play golf. I want to be part of the action.

"I worked somehow. I moved to the colleges. The kids are very dull at the schools now, now that there is no draft. I can make them laugh, as a professional comedian, but they don't have the same perception.

"It is all going to turn around now, my acceptability. It's going to change because I waited. It is the third act now. I didn't accept the second act as the curtain."

The curtain went up 20 years ago, when Sahl made the very first comedy album.

Sahl has a follow-up LP in mind, "It's going to be about: when you train an agency to overthrow governments, it is likely to rehearse here at home."

He's also writing his autobiography and will be in the movie, "The Head of Alfred Garcia." "It's about a bounty hunter, played by me. We start Sept. 3, 10 weeks in Mexico City. We're making it outside the country to help the balance of payments."

Singles out on Watergate include "Watergate," Dick Goodman, the only one on the best-selling charts; "Son of Checkers," Don Imus; "Tricky Dicky Rides Again," Jim Capaldi; "The Watergate Blues," Tom T. Hall; "The Watergate Blues," Red River Dave; "Haldeman, Ehrlichman, Mitchell and Dean," Robert Warren, and David Allen Coe's "How High's the Watergate, Martha?".

LPs take longer to come out. Ten are planned at the moment, including "Watergate Comedy Hour" and "Pure BS," by comedians Burns and Schriber, and one by George Carlin, and David Frye.

BIRDYBACK is the way that carmine bee-eater gets around in Ethiopia's Danskil desert. Its transport is the Arabian bustard.

Stamps In The News

AP Newsfeatures
By SYD KRONISH

Yes, Virginia, there once was a penny post card.

Now, of course, it has given way to the 6-cent card, but the U.S. Postal Service hasn't forgotten the one-center, which first came on the scene a century ago.

To commemorate this 100th anniversary, the USPS will issue a replica for general distribution. The first day of issue for the centennial card will be Sept. 14, in Washington, D.C. It will be in conjunction with the annual meeting of the U.S. Postal Stationery Society at NAPEX, the National Philatelic Exhibition.

In addition to the price, the new card differs from the original in color — magenta instead of brown on buff. The lower left corner of the card bears the inscription, "First U.S. Postal Card Adapted To Commemorate Its 100th Anniversary 1873-1973."

Requests for first day cancellations should be addressed to: "Centennial Postal Card, Postmaster, Washington, D.C. 20013." Remember to mail your request no later than Sept. 14.

Protection of the environment is a prominent concern now of most of the nations in the world. Since postage stamps reflect the concerns of the people, a number of stamps publicizing environmental problems are being issued.

West Germany has issued four new stamps on "International Environment Protection," with the new symbol of the First International Conference on the Environment, held in Stockholm, Sweden. The symbol is surrounded by other symbols representing litter, water pollution, noise, and air pollution, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency.

The stamps are available at your local dealer.

The U.S. Postal Service will issue two more souvenir cards in honor of major international stamp exhibitions being held this year. It recently released a souvenir card for the exhibit in Munich.

The two issues hail the International Airmail Exhibition (APEX '73) being held in Manchester, England, from July 4 through July 7, and the Swiatowa Wystawa Filatelisycna (cq), POLSKA '73, being staged in Poznan, Poland, Aug. 19-Sept. 2.

These cards will be available for $1 each through the Philatelic Sales Unit, Washington, D.C. 20036 on the respective issue dates.

Israel honors the 9th Maccabiah Games with a new stamp featuring a stylized Star of David composed of intersecting elements, all of which seem to be in movement with a figure "9" suggested within the design. The "All-Jewish" Olympics was first held in 1932 in what was then Palestine. The second was held in the clouded year of 1936. The third and all the rest have taken place in Israel, begining in 1950, reports the Israel Philatelic Agency in America.

The stamps are available at your local stamp dealer.

A tribute to a failure is commemorated on a new stamp by Jamaica.

One hundred years ago, the Jamaicans imported the mongoose to kill the rats which were destroying its largest export, sugar cane. Only nine were brought into Jamaica.

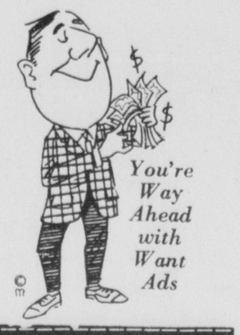

Although the mongoose is a rat killer, it has to catch the rats first. The crafty rodents climbed the trees — which the mongoose cannot do. Thus the rats continued to devour the sugar crop while the mongoose multiplied faster than a computer. Faced with starvation, the mongoose turned to the easy prey of chickens and other ground-nesting birds. Instead of ridding themselves of rats, the Jamaicans now had an extra problem.

The new Jamaican stamp shows an illustration of a mongoose and the dates 1872-1972.

MAURICE STANS, former Commerce secretary, is under indictment in New York, accused of obstructing a federal investigation and lying to a grand jury. The accusation relates to a secret contribution to the Nixon campaign.

A DEALERSHIP OPPORTUNITY BIG AS ALL OUTDOORS

America is discovering that yard care can be fun again . . . a welcome relief from today's pressure living. And Case outdoor power equipment is the key to this new world of outdoor fun.

As a Case outdoor power equipment dealer, you sell and service proved products, with the same kind of precision engineering, performance, durability and service that mark the big Case farm and construction machines. You sell with confidence, backed by the $400,000,000-plus Case Company, a division of Tenneco. Power ranges from 8 to 16 hp to appeal to a wide range of prospects, both home owners and commercial users. A full line of compact tractors with attachments, riding lawnmowers and walk behind mowers, tillers and snowblowers.

What does it take to be a Case outdoor power equipment dealer?

A capital investment on your part is minimal. Case provides wholesale financing with floor plan privileges to make it possible for you to sell from a "full shelf". You can finance retail sales through Case Credit Corporation. The most important qualification by far is YOU. If you enjoy meeting people, selling them on the fun of home care with Case equipment and providing their relatively simple service needs, you have the makings of a profitable dealership. We'll supply the product and service know-how as well as management training.

Interested? Now is the ideal season to investigate the Case franchise. Call or write Jack Zeigler, J I Case Company, Winneconne Wisconsin 54986. My toll-free phone number is 800-558-0270.

Lilbourn troop at Camp Lewallen

LILBOURN — Lilbourn Boy Scout Troop 50 is attending the 32nd year of camping at Camp Lewallen, located on the St. Francis River near Silva in Wayne County.

The camp is owned and operated by Boy Scouts of America. The St. Francis River was used for swimming rowing, canoeing and other aquatic merit badges until a swimming pool was opened for use in the summer of 1962 and R. B. Potashnick Lake was put into use in the summer of 1967. A new rifle range was installed in 1970.

In the beginning the camp consisted of 263 acres of land made available by the Lewallen family in 1938. By 1964 seven additional tracts had increased the camp to 560 acres. Troop 50 Scoutmaster Owen J. Taul says the present camp covers approximately 600 acres.

Troop 50, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, will return Saturday.

Morehouse-- Walter Glass was in Cairo Tuesday.

Canalou-- J.R. Grabenhurst and R.H. Weaks were in Morehouse last Saturday.

Rumors have been afloat for some weeks concerning proposed increased train service on the Frisco railroad from St. Louis to Memphis. This increased service, according to rumor, includes a new and fast train leaving St. Louis each evening about 11 o'clock and reaching Memphis at six o'clock the next morning. It is also said that a new train from St. Louis to Chaffee, corresponding to a former train known as the St. Mary's Accomodation, would be inaugurated, and that all passenger locomotives would be equipped with oil burners.

A refreshing shower fell Tuesday in the vicinity of Sikeston. It was much needed and was of great benefit to growing crops. Local showers have fallen in other parts of Southeast Missouri during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. G.M. Fowler have sold their residence at 711 Sikes avenue to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moose. Mr. Fowler and family will move next week to Webster Groves, where they will be at home at 220 Rockhill Road.

Pvt. Lester King, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. King of Sikeston, is now at Camp Polk, Ia.

An instructor and a cadet from the army air forces flying detachment at Sikeston parachuted from a training plane at the Matthews field Tuesday and the plane crashed and was demolished.

Marion Tomerlin, who for the past seven and a half years has been assistant manager for Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., in charge of the local detached office, has been promoted to the position of field training instructor. He will operate directly out of the home office in New York. Dennis Walker, who managed Kroger stores at Parma and New Madrid for years, has been named to succeed Walter Steward, who has been the company's representative at Lilbourn and who will be transferred to Sikeston.

Mrs. Pearl Suggs of Dexter died Tuesday at the home of her sister, Mrs. Bill Wedneck, 216 East Kathleen, following a stroke of paralysis.

With funeral services set for one brother tomorrow afternoon, the Shipman family, formerly of Morehouse, is burdened with extra grief today over the uncertainty of the fate of another brother, who left Guam Saturday aboard a four- engine commercial plane en- route to the states to attend his brother's funeral. Norman Leon Shipman, native of Morehouse and for the past few years a civilian employe of the navy on Guam, is one of 50 passengers and crew of eight who are being sought between Wake and Honolulu. He was coming home to attend the funeral of his brother, Ezra, who died July 6 in Las Vegas, Nev.

William Francis Edmiston, 70, for many years owner and operator of a service station at Vanduser, died in Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape Saturday.

Charleston-- Funeral services for Art White Cross, 49, a former resident of Bertrand, will be held Wednesday. He died yesterday in a St. Louis hospital.

Sikeston's Country Club golfers, led by Muzz Dace, junior golf champion, who fired a sizzling 10- under- par 62, defeated the Westwood Country Club golfers from Poplar Bluff, 33- 23 in a Southeast Missouri Golf Association Round Robin match here yesterday.

Actor Robert Ryan dies of cancer at 63

NEW YORK (AP) — Actor Robert Ryan, who appeared in more than 90 movies, died early Wednesday in New York Hospital of cancer. He was 63.

He was hospitalized a little over a week ago. A friend said it was a recurrence of a cancer which had been arrested some years back.

Ryan's wife, whom he married in 1939, died about a year ago. Three children survive — Timothy who lives in California; Cheyney, a lecturer at Boston University and Lisa, who lives in New York.

Funeral services will be private.

Ryan recently completed a movie with Burt Lancaster, and was to have left next week for Spain to make another picture.

What's the law?

The case of the calm taxpayer

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Horace was as nervous as an Arab in Tel Aviv. Everything frightened him. What frightened him most was his dreaded fear that, one day, the Russians would drop a nuclear bomb right on top of his home. What's more, his doctor was unable to stay his worst fears.

Consequently, instead of prescribing medicine for Horace, who developed a severe case of hypertension because of his fears, he prescribed a bomb shelter which Horace promptly built, at no small cost, in the basement of his vulnerable home.

Thus, while Horace was protected against a sneak attack from the Russians, he found himself unprotected from an open attack by the Internal Revenue Service. He had deducted the cost of the bomb shelter from his income tax return as a medical expense, and the IRS doggedly refused to allow the deduction.

"A bomb shelter," he was told, "isn't a health measure."

"That's where you are wrong," was Horace's answer. "If an H- bomb is dropped, what could possibly protect my state of health more? Besides it was prescribed by my doctor. And it worked. Having the security of a bomb shelter has eased my hypertension no end. I'm almost as calm now as Perry Como."

With the deduction disallowed, Horace took the matter to court.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you allow calm Horace to make the deduction?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that the bomb shelter was not for the "diagnosis" cure, mitigation or treatment of an existing disease, as required by the law, so as to permit the cost to be deducted as a medical expense. Despite Horace's anxiety over a nuclear attack, noted the judge, the present dangers from fallout are too remote a health hazard to allow the deduction.

(Based upon a 1963 United States Tax Court Decision)

YOUR VOICE IS HEARD

Lawmakers in Washington and Jefferson City listen to MFA because it's the voice of 152,000 farmers and many urban Missourians with common interests. MFA spokesmen are in action regularly before U.S. Congressional Committees, making your voice heard on issues that effect your life. We've urged:

★ 1973 Farm Act with a farm commodity reserve and meaningful farm price supports.

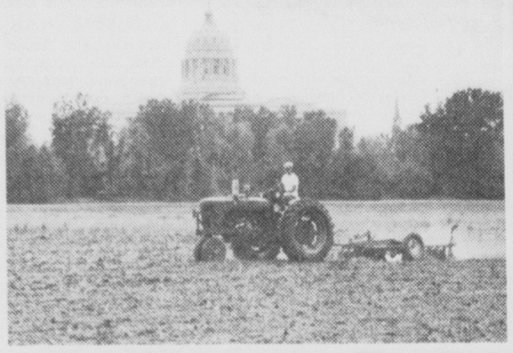

★ Continuation of rural electric programs through low-interest loans.

★ Provisions for emergency Farms Home Administration loans to farmers hard hit by floods.

★ Making available planning and financial assistance for rural communities through the new Rural Development Act.

★ And, in Missouri, we're actively promoting state laws to improve schools, roads, safety and medical care.

Yes, your voice is heard because MFA goes all the way. Action for all rural and town neighbors.

Regional plan goes to Sikes

JEFFERSON CITY— Ronald C. Yersak, of Malden, planning director of Bootheel Regional Planning Commission, recently presented BRPC's regional comprehensive plan to Al Sikes, director of the Missouri Department of Community Affairs and Steve Bradford, state planning director.

The regional plan contains information and future projections on such subjects as housing, wholesale and retail trade, land use and parks and open space. The book contains current facts and figures on all studies the BRPC has completed during the past three and one- half years and is the official BRPC document to be used as a policy guide for local governmental decision makers.

The funds to develop such a document are made possible through a grant from the Missouri Department of Community Affairs and the commission's local assessment. The state planning department is responsible for overseeing the working arrangement between the state and the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission.

Copies of the various publications can be obtained from the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission office in Malden. Any person should be able to obtain access to these publications by either contacting their local mayor, city clerk or county court.

State gets $9 million

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Missouri has received a federal revenue sharing check for $9.2 million, bringing the state's revenue sharing total since last December to $51 million.

All but $40,800 of the money received Wednesday will go into U.S. Treasury bills, which pay 7.75 per cent interest.

The $40,800 will go toward capital improvements approved in appropriations for the fiscal year that ended June 30.

State Treasurer James I. Spainhower said Missouri has earned $1 million in interest from the revenue sharing money.

Of the $53.8 million in capital improvements approved by the legislature for the 1973-74 fiscal year, $48.5 million will come from federal revenue sharing money.

2 arrested for no license

BENTON— Owners of two establishments which have been selling liquor were arrested Wednesday by the Scott County Sheriff's Office for selling liquor without a county license.

Elowee Boley of Benton, owner of the Boley Package Store in Benton and Lovelyn Hamilton, owner of Hamilton's Hillside Cafe in Haywood City were taken into custody Wednesday.

They were released on $300 bond.
